Description Tibet is an ancient land of an ancient people Ram Rahul has studied and written on Tibet extensively in Modern Tibet he studies Tibet up to 1951 when it was taken over by the People's Republic of China he has especially dealt with the Dalai Lama as the head of state and government of Tibet and the relationship between Tibet and China continues a history of modern Tibet volume 2 the calm before the storm 1951 1955

Some go to Tibet seeking inspiration others for adventure the award winning journalist Claire Scobie found both when she left her ordinary life in London and went to the Himalayas in search of a rare red lily her journey took her to Pemako where few westerners have set foot and where the myth of Shangri-la was born it was here she became friends with Ani an unusual Tibetan nun who was to change her life through seven journeys in Tibet Claire chronicles a rapidly changing world where monks talk on mobiles and Lhasa's sex industry thrives but it is Ani a penniless wanderer with a rich heart who leaves an indelible impression together in a culture where freedom of expression is forbidden they risk arrest and they forge an abiding friendship based on intuition and deep respect evoking the luminous landscape of snow peaks and wild alpine gardens Claire Scobie captures the paradoxes of contemporary Tibet a land steeped in religion struggling against oppression and galloping towards modernity last seen in Lhasa is a unique story of insight and adventure that can touch us all

It is not possible to understand contemporary politics between China and the Dalai Lama without understanding what happened in the 1950s especially the events that occurred in 1957-59 the fourth volume of Melvyn C Goldstein's History of Modern Tibet series in the Eye of the Storm provides new perspectives on Sino-Tibetan history during the period leading to the Tibetan uprising of 1959 the volume also reassesses issues that have been widely misunderstood as well as stereotypes and misrepresentations in the popular realm and in academic literature such as in Mao's policies on Tibet volume 4 draws on important new Chinese government documents published and unpublished memoirs new following the upheavals of the cultural revolution the people s republic of china gradually permitted the renewal of religious activity tibetans whose traditional religious and cultural institutions had been decimated during the preceding two decades took advantage of the decisions of 1978 to begin a buddhist renewal that is one of the most extensive and dramatic examples of religious revitalization in contemporary china the nature of that revival is the focus of this book four leading specialists in tibetan anthropology and religion conducted case studies in the tibet autonomous region and among the tibetans of sichuan and qinghai provinces there they observed the revival of the buddhist heritage in monastic communities and among laypersons at popular pilgrimages and festivals demonstrating how that revival must contend with tensions between the chinese state and aspirations for greater tibetan autonomy the authors discuss ways that tibetan buddhists are restructuring their religion through a complex process of social political and economic adaptation buddhism has long been the main source of tibetans pride in their culture and country these essays reveal the vibrancy of that ancient religion in contemporary tibet and also the problems that religion and tibetan culture in general are facing in a radically altered world the subject of tibet is highly controversial and tibet as a political entity is defined differently from source to source and audience to audience the editors of this path breaking multidisciplinary study have gathered some of the leading scholars in tibetan and ethnic studies to provide a comprehensive analysis of the tibet question contemporary tibet explores essential themes and issues concerning modern tibet it presents fresh material from various political viewpoints and data from original surveys and field research the contributors consider such topics as representations and sovereignty economic development and political conditions the exile movement and human rights historical legacies and international politics identity issues and the local society the individual chapters provide historical background as well as a general framework to examine tibet s present situation in world politics the relationship with china and the west and prospects for the future
